Eathan O'Bryant of the Harlem Globetrotters visited Sunrise Hospital and Medical Center last week to bring cheer -- and basketball-spinning tips -- to youngsters in the Candlelighters for Childhood Cancer program. Above, O'Bryant showed Codi Frazier that keeping an eye on the ball is an important skill. Below, Jose Venegas cracked a big smile as O'Bryant offered a steadying hand to set the ball spinning. The rest of the Harlem Globetrotters will visit Las Vegas for a game at 7 p.m. Friday in the Thomas & Mack Center. Photos by Steve Andrascik.
